Secretarial Recruitment Consultant - London W1 - Competitive Salary + Commission

Senior Recruitment Consultant – with a difference!

Are you looking for a change/fresh start? If so, my client can offer you a special opportunity!

You have worked for several years with an established secretarial recruitment consultancy and achieved significant success but no longer feel fulfilled. You take pride in offering a high standard of service to your clients and candidates and are a natural communicator with a sense of humour. You are tired of attending meetings held for meetings' sake, having to reach a certain quota of sales calls per week when you would rather get on and fill existing vacancies AND, as for the internal politics! - well, some days you don't even feel like going in!

Life can be better - my client has been there and made the leap!

Fantastic opportunity to join a small team of highly experienced Consultants and get used to autonomy, your good ideas being put into action and no micro-management. They are keen to hear from an experienced recruiter with a good sense of humour and a mature professional approach. Previous experience gained in permanent 'office support' recruitment is essential.
