Recruitment Consultant - Education - London - City - £32k + commission from 12.5% - 30%

Working on a hot desk in Secondary Education placing long term temps into 4 London Boroughs. Currently billing 2.5k a week this is a great start for someone who wants to build on this and make it super successful.

My client has great relationships with schools for you. Knowing success comes with attracting the best teachers, they have relationships and offices internationally to make sure you get the best teachers. Their Education team is one of the best in London, high performers and excellent commission structure.

They are:

Based in London and Australia

100 people in London

Education and Healthcare specialists

Walking distance from Liverpool Street

They can offer you:

Hot desk

Excellent brand in the market

Candidate generation a key focus

Successful team to work with and learn from

Commission from day one, high percentages up to 30%

Training and support

To relocate to Australia

You need:

Education recruitment experience one year plus.

Hunger and desire to make this desk to 10 (other consultants are achieving this)

Team Player

Be able to travel to Liverpool Street for 7am

Enjoy office banter

I placed the Director of this team in this business over 9 years ago as a consultant! Training and development really happens in this business. The office is high energy and successful, a good sense of humour whilst working towards those high billings is a must. You will be supported to be the best.
