Recruitment Consultant - Corporate Treasury - City of London - c£40,000 + commission + bens

My client is a global tax and treasury recruitment firm with a brand name that opens doors around the world. They are a market leading business and offer an enjoyable and supportive environment where everyone is proud to work.

Their client list ranges from all of the international and national accountancy and law firms through to FTSE 100 and 350 companies, major multinationals, financial services organisations and global investment banks. They have an unrivalled candidate database which is continually strengthened by advertising and marketing campaigns, candidate events and seminars.

As a result of business growth they have an opening for an experienced Recruitment Consultant to join their Treasury team with a focus on recruiting permanent treasury professionals into Corporate. You will be dealing with roles from £60k – 100k and dealing with FTSE 100 business including some very high profile names. This is a very warm desk and there is a steady flow of jobs in this sector but it is essential to build long standing relationships with hiring managers.

This is a specialised market and very lucrative with the focus being very much on providing a quality service. You will be willing to immerse yourself in this market, build exceptional client and candidate relationships and have an honest and communicative working style.

My client does not work to KPIs and they recognise that work/life balance is important so there is no “work late” culture.

This role offers a competitive base salary, together with a performance based bonus scheme that will allow you to achieve a high level of remuneration, as well as a pension and BUPA cover.
