You need to be:

An experienced Recruitment Consultant

Knowledge of either the Change market or working with Legal clients

Be able to self motivate and work within an experienced team

You will want to work on senior level roles and be willing to meet all your client and candidates face to face.

I am really excited to be working for this company: they are successful, deliver a top notch service whilst promoting work life balance.

This will suit a recruiter that wants some flexibility to be able to use their recruitment skills without kpi's or management. If you would like support and to be able to work with a senior team, this client would be great.
