Recruitment Consultant - Actuarial - City - £25000 - 38000 + commission + benefits

My client is a leading Insurance recruitment business established over 15 years. With a team of experienced consultants, they cover the General Insurance market and offer recruitment solutions to a cutting edge client base.

As a business, they offer a mature working environment with no KPIs or micromanagement, staff retention is outstanding, the business is established, growing, super successful, fun and a great place to work.

They are looking to hire a switched on and ambitious individual with at least one year's of recruitment experience gained within the Actuarial sector. This is a warm desk with client accounts and jobs to work on from day one. As a 360 consultant, you will be expected to both maintain existing clients as well as building new relationships. You will have at least 12 months' previous experience within an Actuarial or Pensions environment, have natural communication skills and have a flair for developing relationships with candidates and clients.

This is a technical area of recruitment and you will need to have the ability to confidently network at senior level.

This is a friendly, adult working environment where everyone works as a team and supports each other. Although they are not the biggest Recruitment agency, they do compete with the best and are highly regarded as a market leader within their field.

They will offer a competitive salary, uncapped commission and a great range of benefits and incentives.
