Senior Recruitment Consultant - Interim Payroll - City - 28000 - 40000 + uncapped commission

My client is the go to HR recruitment business in London. They are well established, with over 50 staff in London. Social and fun to work for with a low staff turnover, they are looking to hire an experienced Interim Recruitment Consultant to place interim payroll candidates at all levels into a diverse client base across Commerce & Industry.

You will be recruiting into a wide range of vertical markets and working with an impressive client list. This is a very warm, established desk and you will be part of a super successful team who are consistently billing well.

They can offer you -

A hot desk recruiting interim payroll candidates at daily rates up to £400 per hour in an established client base across Commerce & Industry

Recruiting for some of the leading clients in the market

Working as part of a successful team and alongside leading experts/high performers in the HR recruitment sector

You will be encouraged to do business face to face and use your expense card

Training and development from an external trainer monthly

Space, support and time to become an expert in the market

High billers incentives, 2 parties a year, team drinks and monthly socials

You will need -

4 years' plus interim recruitment experience

An engaging personality who excels at building relationships with clients and candidates

Be passionate to work to high standards

A positive person who strives to be the best

Want to work as part of a successful team
