I am currently recruiting for an established construction organisation with a £30 million turnover who are looking to back and grow the start-up of a M&E recruitment agency. They have extensive guaranteed work through their day to day business in conjunction with a number of partners to offer immediate live vacancies and clients from day one – so it's 100% a hot desk opportunity! This business has been established over 15 years and have spotted an opportunity to exploit within M&E but need to hire an ambitious, hard working and highly knowledgeable M&E recruiter.

The will give 100% free reign and responsibility to the successful applicant to grow the division and build a team and report directly to the owner of the business.

This is a genuine opportunity to set and grow a recruitment division, my client can offer:

- Highly competitive salary and OTE

- Full autonomy to run and grow the business / division
- Access to large brand clients in the M&E sector from day one

- Inspirational Management with unrivalled knowledge of the industry sector

The business currently specialises in construction, not recruitment, employs over 50 staff and turns over in excess of £30 million. They have grown year on year since inception 15 years ago. This is a unique opportunity to build a successful M&E recruitment business and have the autonomy to run it and shape it's future.
